

CHERYL RICE

Cheryl Rice works with high performing managers eager to enhance their leadership impact. She has been working with clients to improve individual, team and executive performance since 1990. Cheryl delivers powerful leadership seminars inspiring managers to use their voice and vision for maximum impact. She has a special expertise in working with women leaders. Cheryl's speaking, seminar, and coaching clients include: Shire Pharmaceuticals, CHOP, AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals, CIGNA, Citizens Back, Campbells Soup, and the Wharton School.

Cheryl has held significant positions in the healthcare, financial services and technology industries. Past corporate positions include Director of Organization Development for AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals, AVP of Leadership Development at ACE International, and leadership consulting roles at CIGNA, NovaCare, and SMS (now Siemens).

With a Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology from Monmouth University, a Master of Science degree in Counseling from the University of Pennsylvania, and a Master of Science degree in Organization Development from Pepperdine University, Cheryl brings significant academic training to compliment her practical work experience. While at Pepperdine, she completed groundbreaking research on the relationship between emotional intelligence and team performance. She has since published her results and spoken to national and local audiences about this work. Additionally, Cheryl has completed her professional coach certification through the Coaches Training Institute and has taught classes in organization change at local universities.

Cheryl is a member of the International Coach Federation, the Organization Development Network, the Association for Humanistic Psychology, and the National Speakers Association.
