

About Lisa Kohn

What people are saying about Lisa:

"Lisa captivated the group and offered them tangible, real-world ideas and suggestions. She is someone who knows her stuff, successfully engages her audience, and offers a value-packed session that gets people thinking, feeling, and most importantly, doing!"

"I could have stayed in your session all day. I learned so much about myself, my strengths, and more importantly, the areas where I can improve. You were inspiring, energetic, and very down to earth."

"The session you presented was dynamic, entertaining, and informative."

Lisa is a dynamic keynote speaker, leadership expert, executive coach and author who, with her unique approach, engages audiences to get out of their own way and achieve the results they desire for themselves and their organizations. By inspiring individuals to become more thoughtful and intentional, Lisa guides them to:

- address their personal and professional challenges
- clarify issues and approach opportunities in new ways
- discover passion and enthusiasm for their work
- lead more successfully from their personal style and strengths
- realize their dreams and reach their goals

In her book, The Power of Thoughtful Leadership, Lisa offers practical suggestions for bringing thoughtfulness to daily life and work.

About Chatsworth Consulting Group

Broken teams, organizational silos, stalled change efforts, managers struggling with how to get the best from their staff, leaders who lack the skills and awareness to truly lead – these are some of the challenges you face as you take your organization into the future.

Chatsworth Consulting Group has been working with organizations like yours since 1995 to design unique solutions to address these issues. By partnering with us, you add our expertise and outside-the-organization outlook to your own knowledge about your perhaps too familiar issues. We help you recognize the strengths and development needs of your people and processes in order to achieve even greater results. Our strategies are customized to your specific needs, and we provide you with the tools and follow-up skills to keep changes and improvements alive.

What people are saying about Lisa:

"I am really taken by Lisa's ability to control the room, to gain maximum participation from the audience, and not least of all, to connect with us through humor, anecdotes, and just her overall common sense."

"Lisa is a bright and experienced professional who is able to articulate messages in a clear and thought-provoking way. She quickly gains the respect of the highest level executives because she is very capable and also entertaining!"

"Lisa is a dynamic individual and great speaker."

"Lisa Kohn... I don't believe I have the words to describe her. She was just perfect for our group. She was energetic, dynamic, straight forward, and downright funny. She didn't sugar coat the information she presented. She presented the information as possibilities and growth opportunities if used correctly. That was my true "A HA" moment."

"I was thoroughly impressed with Lisa's presentation, knowledge and ability to include and engage everyone in the room."
